In Exam Literacy: A guide to doing what works (and not what doesn't) to better prepare students for exams, Jake Hunton focuses on the latest cognitive research into revision techniques and delivers proven strategies which actually work. Foreword by Professor John Dunlosky. 'Read, highlight, reread, repeat if such a revision cycle sounds all too wearily familiar, you and your students need a better route to exam success. And in light of the recent decision to make all subjects at GCSE linear, so that students will be tested in one-off sittings, it will be even more important that students are well equipped to acquire and recall key content ahead of their exams. In this wide-ranging guide to effective exam preparation, Jake Hunton casts a careful eye over a wide range of research into revision techniques and details the strategies which have been proven to deliver the best results. With plenty of practical suggestions and subject-specific examples, Exam Literacy provides teachers with user-friendly advice on how they can make the content they cover stick, and shares up-to-date, evidence-based information on: The nature of learning and the various types of memory. How to improve students' retention of knowledge and recall of content. Why popular revision techniques, such as rereading, highlighting and summarising, may not be as effective as you think. How revision strategies that have been identified as being more effective such as interleaving, elaborative interrogation, self-explanation and retrieval practice can be embedded into day-to-day teaching. How students can be encouraged to make use of these winning strategies when revising independently.

Provides revision notes, examples, and practice questions for the A2 AQA course. Matching the AS guide BUAR51, this A2 guide gives exam preparation so students know what to cover, what to expect, and how to answer well on the big day.

Are you sitting the new 9 to 1 GCSE examinations and wish to achieve good grades? Are you overwhelmed by the new syllabus and the workload? Do you need some useful and reliable guidance from a student who has nailed the exams? This book has been written by a teenager, like you. Having achieved seven 9s, three A*s and one A in his GCSEs, the author has shared his revision style to help many other teenagers to realise their potential. In his book, Rohan has outlined his tried and tested methods to achieve the best grades. There is step by step guide on planning, making a timetable, and revision techniques leading up to the GCSE exams. There are separate chapters for subject-specific advice as the same technique cannot work for subjects like English and Chemistry. There are tips on how to stay motivated and also relax and enjoy at the same time. Smart working rather than a lot of working helps. Read this book and arm yourself with studying techniques which will help you not only in your GCSEs but all future exams.

As a result, there is little applicability internationally, even less interdisciplinary work, and at times, an outright bias against the market economy as such. The Commission Report, is even handed, tough minded, and frank in discussing how it is that social science and new social and technical forces do not always mesh. The optimism exuded is measured, but genuine. Great Expectations offers policy recommendations and scientific goals that can be serviceable not only in the United Kingdom, but in all advanced societies in which social research is a central component of economic stability and development. It is a superb reference volume enriched by original analysis and pungent, clear-headed writing. Members of the commission include: Professor David Rhind, Vice Chancellor of the City University served as Chairman of the Commission.
