This book examines numerous topic areas that are considered to be especially relevant for making a strategic leader development investment. The topics covered are areas that ha theoretical and empirical connections to important aspects of growth, change, adult development, and underlying abilities, skills, and competencies needed to lead effectively in tim complexity. In addition, these are investment areas identified by the U.S. Army--a world-class organization faced with the need for radical transformation--as particularly relevant fo and survival. This book identifies key concerns in developing leaders and leadership, and in transforming organizations to better meet the challenges of a complex world. There are t aspects of this book that distinguish it from the numerous existing volumes on leadership in the scholarly and popular-press literatures. Most important, the overarching focus of t book is on development. There are many offerings on the topic of leadership, but relatively few that focus on leader development--especially from a scholarly, academic perspective volume offers a unique perspective in examining those underlying psychological competencies and processes that are viewed as especially relevant for leader development. The chap are collected in this edited volume were originally commissioned by the U.S. Army Research Institute as "white papers" to better help Army officers and researchers understand imp issues in leader development. The present organization of the papers is around four central themes: a) Accelerating Leader Development, b) Cognitive Skills Development, c) Develop Practical and Emotional Intelligence, and d) Enhancing Team Skills.

Real Nursing: Every Second Counts provides a detailed working view of nursing and American healthcare institutions. It shows the obstacles faced by U.S. healthcare workers, and t of their workforce which contribute to constant staffing shortage and burn-out. Further, it offers employees, companies and concerned citizens alternative methods and tactics fo poor quality patient care.

Makerere University started in 1922 as a humble technical school enrolling 14 day students of Carpentry, Building and Mechanics. Nine decades later, the University has made gian strides--enrolling over 35,000 students in over 145 study programmes hosted by nine colleges spread across various campuses. As one of the first higher education institutions in Central Africa, the university has had to contend with a multiplicity of issues, including relevance, curricula reform, community engagement and graduate employability; access, equi massification and quality assurance; national politics, regulation, institutional autonomy and academic freedom; funding and financial management; student politics and activism; sta unionisation, management and brain drain; physical resources expansion, utilisation and maintenance; liberalisation, privatisation, commercialisation and internationalisation; Informat Communication Technology (ICT); and institutional leadership and integrity. Today, the University stands out proudly as a hallmark of innovation and excellence in teaching, research community engagement, notwithstanding the challenges it has experienced over the years. As it celebrates 90 years, the higher education scholarly and policy fraternity take the o honour and continue the University's tradition of scholarship and innovation — through contributing ideas for dealing with some of the challenges that the University and similar ins contending with. Although studies of Makerere University have been included, it must be understood that this book is not necessarily about the University. Additional studies have from Botswana, Ethiopia, Ghana, Kenya, Malawi, Nigeria, Tanzania and other institutions in Uganda.

How did the 1959 season impact the future of College Football? A Memorable Season in College Football: A Look Back at 1959 is a comprehensive study of this unique season. Beginning with an overview of the college game as it was played during that era, the pre-season rules changes, and prognosticators assessments, it then follows all the top teams and players week by week, including game summaries, individual achievements, and the shifting weekly polls. A Memorable Season covers key conference races, the post-season awards, bowl games, and the social climate of racism as it pertained to college football. A History of the football programs at over twenty major universities, from the first season up to 1959, are summarized throughout the text. The history of major post-season bowls and the college game itself are explored. Finally, a thorough analysis is made to determine which really was the top team in 1959, how a different outcome may have occurred, and why this season was so pivotal in the development of the modern game of college football.

Illness is caused by an imbalance in the body. Are you naturally inspired about your life? Do you consciously take care of your health and well-being? When you wake up in the morning, what are your first thoughts? How do you spend your days? If money, freedom and health were no object, how would you spend your days? Do you ever feel powerful and vital? What is a feeling of power and vitality like? What is a generic, mundane life like? Is that you? Are you a big consumer of pop culture entertainment and useless material goods like home décor? One thing is certain, your life is lived alone in your head therefore it's up to you. You create your own attitudes therefore your own biochemistry as I discuss elsewhere. Joy breeds the release of more neurotransmitters in your head that give you greater joy while depression depresses your biochemistry even more. The bottom line to a full, powerful life is to what extent are you naturally

*I was a teacher for awhile. I started because I liked education and wanted to do something to express myself creatively but after I taught a basic psychology course called Human Growth & Development over 30 times, I said to myself I don't believe in the fake science of psychology anymore. I could keep doing this to earn a living but everyday I feel like I'm wasting my life. The point is that it's a great profession if you like the course material and the students who are mostly young, well-intentioned and inspired. I'm pro-teacher because I was one. I think it's one of the few truly honorable professions. This is not a teacher job book. I wrote a separate book for that. In a completely rational society, the best of us would be teachers and the rest of us would have to settle for something less, because passing civilization along from one generation to the next ought to be the highest honor and the highest responsibility anyone could have. Many American Presidents were Rhodes Scholars. Is this a coincidence? How about the United World Colleges? There have been wealthy and benevolent people in the past who set up schools for young people to see other cultures, meet other people and develop a united view of humanity. I was an international student. It wasn't that big of a deal, going from Halifax, Canada to Gainesville, Florida. I lived in the International Student House on University Avenue near NW 4TH St. with a hundred guys from all over the world where I learned that we're all the same. Countries are just artificial borders. It's not that hard to get through the paperwork then have to buy medical insurance on top of it. I say if you got the means and the guts, go for it. The Council On International Educational Exchange (CIEE) offers many travel programs and discount tour packages to students worldwide. They also offer educational tours abroad for groups of adults.

It's normal to try recreational drugs because people are curious. Most people who use drugs for fun grow out of it. Some keep doing it every once in awhile while others get hooked. I don't know if I do know that it's easier for someone with money to become an addict than somebody earning a middle class wage because drugs are expensive. The problem with young people under 25 and no money is they don't get a second chance. They overdose and die. That's why even experimenting can be dangerous. Marijuana affects short-term memory, impairs the ability to concentrate, inhibits alertness and makes driving dangerous. Cocaine boosts the heart rate while constricting the blood vessels, increasing your chances of having a heart attack or an abnormal heart rhythm. Crack, cocaine can be smoked.
